

DIVE TRAIL

Malta

Qawra Reef Popular with beginner and intermediate divers, Qawra Reef is accessible by shore and has a maximum depth of 25-metres. Christ the Seafarer Statue The statue of Christ was placed on the seabed near Qawra to commemorate the visit of Pope John-Paul in 1990 - a spectacular sight underwater. Imperial Eagle Shipwreck This upright shipwreck was sunk in 1999. Divers can pose for a photo as a deep sea captain behind the ship's steering wheel. P29 Shipwreck The former minesweeper and patrol boat was cleaned and scuttled in 2007 to serve as a dive site and an artificial reef, which is now home to fauna and fish. Tug Boat Rozi Rozi once operated in Valletta's Grand Harbour. Today she serves as an artificial reef at a depth of 36-metres. Ghar Lapsi Reef The Ghar Lapsi is great for beginners and new divers who can descend and explore the reef at 15-metres in guiet and shallow waters. Wied Iz-Zurrieg West Reef and Caves The West Reef and Caves are home to an abundance of marine life - discover the Bell Tower Cave during this dive. Um El Faroud Shipwreck Adventurous divers can fully explore this shipwreck: discover the deck, multiple cabins and take the stairs to the engine room. Bristol Blenheim Bomber Dating back to WW2; this aircraft is located at a depth of 42-meters. The wings and engines are virtually intact and the aircraft quickly begins to take shape after decent. Delimara Point Ree This site is great for beginner divers as the underwater reef can be explored at 9-meters. HMS Maori Shipwreck Arguably Malta's most famous and historical wreck, divers of all levels can discover this WW2 destroyer at a depth between 11 and 15 meters. Fort St Flmo The dive starts at 13-meters and finally drops off to a depth of 35-meters. Explore a variety of boulders and gullies. Coral Gardens Situated off the main promenade in Sliema, you can find spectacular tunnels and caverns teemed with varied marine life. Mercanti Reef Discover an artificial reef that leads to a sandy seabed just 15 to 20-meters off the shore. G0Z0 MV Karwella The 1957 German passenger ferry, which was converted locally as a tourist pleasure cruise boat, was purposely sunk in 2006 to provide an artificial reef. Blue Hole Reportedly one of Jacques Cousteau's favourite dive sites, you can see Gozo's largest Groupers, Amberjacks, Barracuda and Tuna feeding here. Inland Sea and Tunne Discover the 80m Inland Sea Tunnel – some divers like to carry a torch for added light to explore the tunnel walls. zure Reef The fallen Azure Window calls to be discovered by divers; the impressive site boasts incredible rock formations, canyons and narrow passageways. Double Arch

This world renowned double arch is a unique dive for experienced divers.
